

15 great last-minute gift cards for Father's Day: gifts delivered instantly

Jaime Carrillo
Reviewed

Did you forget to get your dad a Father's Day gift? There's still time to make his day with a gift card to one of his favorite retailers. Tons of these gift cards deliver instantly to his email, so you can buy them while your dad opens his gifts from siblings who didn't procrastinate. If you're pressed for time, here are 15 great last-minute gift cards that your dad will love.

Make smart choices without hours of googling.

We're willing to bet your dad already has plenty of curated wishlists across a handful of his favorite retailers. Getting him a gift card can help him shave a few dollars off the purchase price of an awesome gift, or, depending on how generous your gift is buy it outright. Whichever you decide to get, don't forget that Father's Day lands on Sunday, June 18. Here's our selection of great last-minute gift cards for Father's Day.

1. For the dad who can't decide where to eat: Happy Food and Laughs gift card

Instead of getting your dad a gift card for one of his favorite eateries, why not give him one that's redeemable at five different places? The Happy Food and Laughs gift card is redeemable at Red Lobster, Cracker Barrel, BJ's Brewhouse, Red Robin, and Cheesecake Factory so dad is prepared no matter where his whims take him.

2. For the techie dad: Best Buy gift cards

If your dad is the type that updates his phone every other year, or dives into the latest tech fad before everyone else a Best Buy gift card would make his Father's Day. Even though new tech runs a little pricey, a gift card will help take a little (or big) chunk out of the purchase price of a new TV, smartwatch, game console, or countless other coveted tech gifts.

3. For carnivore dads: Crowd Cow gift card

Mail-order meat is one of those gifts that every dad secretly wants. Crowd Cow is our favorite meat delivery service because of its wide selection of cuts, fast shipping, and sustainable packaging, and there are multiple ways to buy its products including with a gift card. Its American Wagyu is a game changer, with similar marbling to the Japanese premium grade. Many of its selections are surprisingly affordable and would put a smile on any dad who likes their steaks medium-rare.

4. For the environmentally conscious dad: Who Gives a Crap gift card

Is Dad on a mission to go green this year? Consider grabbing him a gift card to Who

Gives A Crap, a brand known for its recycled and bamboo toilet paper, paper towels and more. He can feel good about his TP usage this Father's Day and beyond, and you can feel good too, giving him a sustainable gift that keeps on giving.

5. For the dad who would rather be fishing: Bass Pro Shops gift card

There's a special kind of weekend warrior who can't wait to wake up at 4 a.m. to sit on a quiet boat in the middle of a lake waiting for the fish to bite. For the dad who loves the comfort and solace of #thatfishermanslife, a gift card to Bass Pro Shops is the perfect Father's Day gift. The retailer is home to the latest and greatest outdoor apparel, reels, lures and everything else fishermen dream of.

6. For film fans: Fandango gift card

A night out at the movies is a favorite activity for plenty of dads, whether they're on a date with their better half or taking the kiddos to watch the latest Minions joint. A Fandango gift card makes movie night even more fun, because your dad won't have to stand in long line to reserve good seats. To ring in Father's Day right, Fandango is offering 10% discounts on all gift card purchases over $50 when you apply coupon code JUNE2023 at checkout.

7. For the dad who needs coffee to live: Starbucks gift card

For "don't talk to me until I've had my coffee" dads, there are few gift cards out there better than a Starbucks one. It's not just the most reliable place for great coffee in the wild, but it's also popular for its refreshing drinks and tasty snacks. For dads who are ornery without their caffeine, there's no better Father's Day gift.

8. For handyman dads: Lowe's gift card

There's something in a dad's fundamental chemistry that makes them want fix things around the house, in some cases, even when they're not broken. A Lowe's gift card is perfect for the dad who is always undertaking a home improvement project. It's also a great place for outdoor furniture and decor, from BBQ pits to hanging herb hardens.

9. For the dad that still listens to the radio: SiriusXM gift card

Even if your dad is a terrestrial radio die-hard, once he gets a taste of satellite radio he'll never want to go back. Not only are there tons of channels dedicated to various genres but there are plenty of exclusive talk shows including Howard Stern. This gift card unlocks a few months of membership, and dad can listen anywhere including his car, his desk, or even on his smartphone.

10. For the sports fan: Fanatics gift card

Whether your dad is a die-hard football fan or a college basketball purist, he can score some great fan apparel and gear at Fanatics. The official partner of the NBA, MLB, NBA, NHL, NASCAR, NCAA is a great destination for any sports fan. He can spend his Fanatics gift card on everything from team jerseys to autographed memorabilia.

11. For the dad who loves stuffing his face: Harry & David gift card

I'll say it: dads are singlehandedly keeping the meat and cheese gift basket industry alive. Someone's got to! Harry & David has plenty of great meat and cheese baskets, but they also have plenty of other gift baskets featuring everything from fresh fruit to chocolate and even wine. A gift card to Harry & David lets dad choose the treat of his choice, or, he can use it to buy your mom a gift on special days like anniversaries and birthdays.

12. For the cord-cutting dad: Hulu gift card

While many dads are still clinging to cable, it only takes a few hours with a great streaming service like Hulu to make them want to cut the cord. This Hulu gift card lets them dip their toes on the glories of on-demand streaming, with access to original series like "Only Murders in the Building" and classic dad movies like "Sicario."

13. For the dad polishing his cooking skills: Blue Apron

If your dad is spending more and more time in the kitchen, a gift card for Blue Apron is a great Father's Day gift. Blue Apron delivers everything your dad needs to make a gourmet meal, and he'll broaden his horizons with every new entree.

14. For the dad who golfs: Topgolf gift card

For dads who dream of new five-irons and hole-in-ones, Topgolf is probably already one of his favorite destinations for fun. A Topgolf gift card is redeemable at all locations, whether he's playing Topgolf's games or buying apps and drinks for friends and family.

15. For outdoorsy dads: Huckberry gift card

Dads that are comfortable off the grid will adore Huckberry. It's a great place for him to score great outdoor apparel, camping gear, and even fashionable accessories. A Huckberry gift card will let your dad score all these things and more, making it a great Father's Day gift.